

NAWRB's Nexus Conference: Agenda

The nucleus. The center. The source.

Theme: "Women's Collaboration for the Future"

Date: July 16th-19th, 2017

Location: Hilton Orange County/Costa Mesa in Costa Mesa, CA.

NAWRB Annual Conference brings together the most dynamic women and woman-owned business leaders in the housing ecosystem and connects millions of dollars in procurement and vendor relationships.

We give you unique opportunities with results, not lip service.

As a non-partisan women's organization supporting the housing ecosystem professionals and homeownership for generational growth, NAWRB navigates the maze for success.

"Women are born multitaskers, and with each generation-augmented by our own desire to compete harder and faster- more and more is put on our plate. Women's habit to burn the candles at both ends has had direct consequences, notably in the fact that heart attacks are the leading cause of death among women. By laser focusing our efforts, sharing our platforms and especially by helping one another, we can advance the women's diversity and inclusion, and lighten the weight on our shoulders by working smarter."

"Unlike our diverse counterparts, women do not have geographical roots" – Desiree Patno

"Behind every successful woman is a tribe of other successful women who have her back" -Anonymous

- NAWRB 5 Initiatives: Diversity & Inclusion Leadership Council (NDILC); Women's Global Resource Center (NWGRC); Women's Homeownership; Small Business Sustainability Care Package; Strategic Partnerships & Mentoring Programs for Women
- "If we cannot thrive together, we are breaking the unity and leaving some women behind. Whether it's between best friends, family, social media... it is crucial for women to express support for one another.^[1]
- "Perhaps different groups can agree on an issue like eliminating the gender wage gap, but disagree on a separate women's issue. Should they work towards the ideal upon which they see eye to eye, or allow their differences to prevent their collaboration and thus hinder the movement?"
